

Helping you to stop terrorism and extremism online

How to report terrorist content you find on the web

The internet is used by some people to promote terrorism and extremism. The Government and police are committed to protecting the public from terrorist content online, but we cannot do this alone. Everyone who uses the internet can help to make it safer.

direct.gov.uk/reportingonlineterrorism is a dedicated webpage where you can report online content you think might be illegal, or which you find offensive.

To report terrorist content on the web go to direct.gov.uk/reportingonlineterrorism

Helping you to stop terrorism and extremism online

Illegal terrorist or extremist content might include:

- speeches or essays calling for racial or religious violence
- videos of violence with messages of 'glorification' or praise for the attackers
- chat forums with postings calling for people to commit acts of terrorism or violent extremism
- messages intended to stir up hatred against any religious or ethnic group
- bomb-making instructions

At direct.gov.uk/reportingonlineterrorism you can report content you think may be illegal to the police for investigation. You can also find out how to report offensive content to the website administrator, service provider or hosting company.

To report terrorist content on the web go to direct.gov.uk/reportingonlineterrorism